Use Hoopla to Access a Free, No-Waiting-List Version of And Then There Were None

Both an ebook version and audio versions are available FREE with your library card on Hoopla. No waiting lists like encountered at Overdrive/Libby. Never used Hoopla? Then start at the library website here (have your library card number handy). Click on the Hoopla option, and then follow directions to get started. Once on the site, look for the search icon and type in: And Then There Were None. You should find:

- Direct link to Hoopla e-Book. No waiting list.
- Direct link to full audio read by Dan Stevens (6 hr 1 min). Brit accent. No waiting list.
- Direct link to full audio read by Hugh Fraser (5 hr 36 min). Brit accent. He reads a bit faster, but I thought he was slightly more understandable than the Stevens version. No waiting list.